George Press Jewelers has been crafting beautiful, custom pieces, as well as creating, setting, repairing and maintaining fine jewelry in Essex County for 32 years. Press, who has a background in fine art, his wife, Cheryl, and their staff take pride in accommodating every request. Whether you want something new, an old piece redesigned or a family heirloom re-purposed—Press has the talent and skill to do it. "It's his creativity and his ability to repair and to design that makes us different from everyone else," says Cheryl, who also credits the staff, some of whom have been at the store for nearly 30 years, for their success. "Thank you to our clients for voting us and thank you to our staff for helping us achieve this award."
